Dean´s Measure No. 19/2026
Regular Extraordinary Scholarship for Full-time Students in the Master's Degree Program in Fishery and Protection of Waters

1) Starting from the 2026/2027 academic year, students enrolled in the full-time Master's degree program in Fishery and Protection of Waters will automatically receive a regular extraordinary scholarship pursuant to Section 91(2)(e) of Act No. 111/1998 Coll., on Higher Education Institutions and on Amendments and Supplements to Other Acts (the Higher Education Act), as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "Act").
2) The scholarship will be paid during the first year of study from the start of the student's attendance in classes until the end of the summer semester, and during the second year of study from September until the completion of the student's studies. The scholarship may be paid only during the student's standard period of study, and its maximum amount is 18 times the monthly amount specified in paragraph 3. A student who has been repeatedly enrolled in a given study program at the faculty is not eligible for the scholarship. Exceptions are made in cases where a student was enrolled in the program but was unable to travel to the Czech Republic because a residence permit was not granted.
3) The monthly scholarship amount is equal to the eligible portion of the doctoral income of doctoral students at the FFPW USB, based on a 0.1 FTE.
4) Scholarship payments will be suspended if the student:
   - fails to earn 20 credits for the first semester of study by the deadline specified in the relevant FFPW USB academic year schedule,
   - fails to earn 40 credits for the first year of study by the deadline specified in the relevant FFPW USB academic year schedule,
   - achieves a weighted grade point average lower than 2.0 for the first year of study,
   - fails to register by the deadline specified in the relevant FFPW USB academic year schedule to begin work on his/her thesis so that he/she can complete the studies within the standard period of study,
   - fails to register by the deadline specified in the relevant FFPW USB academic calendar for the final state examination in a manner that would allow him/her to complete his/her studies within the standard period of study,
   - fails to submit the manuscript of his/her thesis by the deadline specified in the relevant FFPW USB academic calendar in a manner that would allow him/her to complete the studies within the standard period of study,
   - achieves a cumulative weighted grade point average lower than 2.0.
5) Scholarship payments will also be suspended if disciplinary proceedings are initiated against a student and will be terminated if any final measure or penalty resulting from such disciplinary proceedings is imposed.

6) Payment of the scholarship may be suspended in accordance with paragraph 4 even earlier if, prior to the deadline specified in the academic year schedule, it becomes apparent that the student will not fulfill the relevant obligation, or if circumstances indicate that the student will not fulfill the relevant obligation.
7) The scholarship for a given month will be paid by the 15th day of the month following the month for which the scholarship is to be paid. If circumstances arise that warrant the suspension of scholarship payments at any time during the period prior to the payment date, the scholarship for that month will not be paid. If it is later determined that there was no valid reason for suspending the scholarship payment, the scholarship will be paid to the student on the next scheduled payment date.
8) The scholarship will be paid in full if the conditions for awarding the scholarship were met for at least 15 days in the month; otherwise, only a pro-rata portion will be paid.
9) The payment of scholarships is governed by additional provisions of the USB Scholarship Regulations, in particular Article 14 and other provisions of the Dean's Measure No. 24/2025.
10) This Dean's Measure shall enter into force and take effect upon its approval on November 9, 2026.

Prof. Tomáš Policar, m.p.
Dean of FFPW USB
